ACHIEVEMENTS
- Vernon Smith, professor of economics and law, won the 2002 Nobel Prize in Economics Sciences. Smith joins James Buchanan, professor of economics emeritus, as George Mason’s second professor to achieve this honor. Mason is the first and only university in Virginia to boast two Nobel laureates.
- The Campaign for George Mason University, which ended June 2005, raised $142 million in private support—$32 million more than the dollar goal. The university’s first comprehensive fundraising effort resulted in 103 new endowments and helped advance research initiatives, expand services, and fund facility improvements.
- George Mason ranks number one in the nation in diversity, according to a survey of more than 110,000 students at 361 top colleges in the 2006 edition of the Princeton Review’s Annual College Guide, The Best 361 Colleges.
- Sponsored programs continue strong sustaining a level of $65 million in fiscal year 2005.
- The National Science Foundation rankings for research expenditures lists George Mason as fourth in the nation for the field of political science, which includes public policy, public administration and public affairs. George Mason is preceded by the Naval Postgraduate School, Harvard University, and the University of Michigan.
- The Industrial Psychologist ranked the Industrial/Organizational Psychology program, housed in the College of Arts and Sciences, sixth in the nation.

Quick Facts 2005-06

Since it was founded in 1972, George Mason University has grown into a major educational force and earned a reputation as an innovative, entrepreneurial institution. Just minutes from Washington, D.C., George Mason has a growing and diverse student body and an exceptional faculty of enterprising scholars. At the center of the world’s political, information, and communications networks, George Mason is the university needed by a region and a world driven by new social, economic, and technological realities.

George Mason’s development has been shaped in response to the educational needs of its cosmopolitan constituency. The university has gained national distinction in a range of academic fields, including political science, which includes public policy, public administration and public affairs. George Mason is preceded by the Naval Postgraduate School, Harvard University, and the University of Michigan.

Strong alliances with business, the community, and government benefit George Mason’s students and the larger society. Enrollment is nearly 30,000, with students studying in 156 degree programs at the bachelor’s, master’s, doctoral, and professional levels.

George Mason is a distributed university with three campuses in Fairfax, Arlington, and Prince William Counties. In fall 2005, George Mason opened a location in Loudoun County and the Ras Al Khaimah in the United Arab Emirates. Each campus has a distinctive academic focus that plays a critical role in the economy of its region.
